I am very happy to learn that Vardhman Mahavir Medical College and Safdarjung Hospital is to hosting a new website (www.vmmc-sjh.nic.in). The new website I am given to understand is bilingual and disabled friendly and confirms to the guidelines of the Govt. of India. I am confident that the website would be informative, user friendly, is updated regularly and also help in furthering the policy of the Government of increased transparency.

I have personally been associated with the institution for several years. Therefore it gives me greater satisfaction to note the new services being added to the hospital for the improved care of poor patients who form the bulk of patients visiting this hospital.

I am sure in this modern time the new website would ensure speedy dissemination of information and help in bringing the services being provided closer to the public.

I extend my best wishes to the faculty, staff and students in this and all future endeavours.
